This is your final divorce judgment. It must include all agreements you've made with your spouse. The court can only enforce agreements that are included in this judgment.

1. Type of Judgment

This judgment is entered		after the defendant's default;	on agreement of the plaintiff and defendant;] ;	after a hearing or trial.

2. Breakdown of the Marriage

The court finds that there has been a breakdown of the marriage relationship to the extent that the objects of matrimony have been destroyed and there remains no reasonable likelihood that the marriage can be preserved.

3. Divorce

The marriage between the plaintiff and defendant is ended and they are divorced.

4. Children Entitled to Support

The parties have children together that are under 18 or over 18 but entitled to support.

5. Responsibility to Cooperate

Children have a right to the love and affection of both parents. This right cannot be taken away. The plaintiff and defendant must promote strong parent-child relationships. They must also cooperate in carrying out the custody, support, and parenting time provisions of this judgment.

6. Child Support

See the attached Uniform Child Support Order (FOC 10/52 or 10a/52a).
